Davis Library

Davis Library is central to academic life at the University of Rio Grande/Rio Grande Community College (URG/RGCC).

Its mission is to support and meet the informational needs of both campus and community users.

In addition to providing quality collections and services that are easily accessible, the Davis Library also provides opportunities for social and cultural growth and enlightenment throughout the Ohio Appalachian region.

The Davis Library is a place where people share ideas and information.

What better place for friends to come together?

Who are the Friends of the Davis Library?

Anyone can become a "Friend" of the Davis Library!

Friends membership is open to URG/RGCC students, faculty and staff. Alumni and persons from the larger community are invited to join as well.

Everyone and anyone who values the Davis Library and its role as vital community resource is welcome.

What are Friends for?

The Friends of the Davis Library help promote the Davis Library within the community both on and off campus.

Friends create awareness of the Library's operations and needs.

Through fundraising efforts and its Bookplate Donation Program, Friends help encourage the growth of Davis Library's collections, programs and services.

By organizing and sponsoring a wide variety of activities and events that are beyond the scope of the Library's budget, Friends also help to enhance the Library's commitment to outreach and public service.
